CHRISTMAS MOOD, Mrs. Edith Wendelboe displays the mood of Christmas in the children's ward at Warren General Hospital This cheery atmosphere prevailed throughout the hospital during the holiday season. The tots enjoyed the presence of this gay tree and the cute stuffed animals and candy on Christmas Day.

BUSY CLERK. Mrs. Corynne Schumann, a clerk at Warren General Hospital, is busy at her desk in the new offices during the Christmas season. The new offices are small and comfortable, making work a pleasure for the hospital personnel

ENJOY OPEN HOUSE. A mother and two youngsters admire the fine Christmas displays in one of the rooms at Jefferson school during the Jefferson Open House. The affair was attended by some 500 persons.

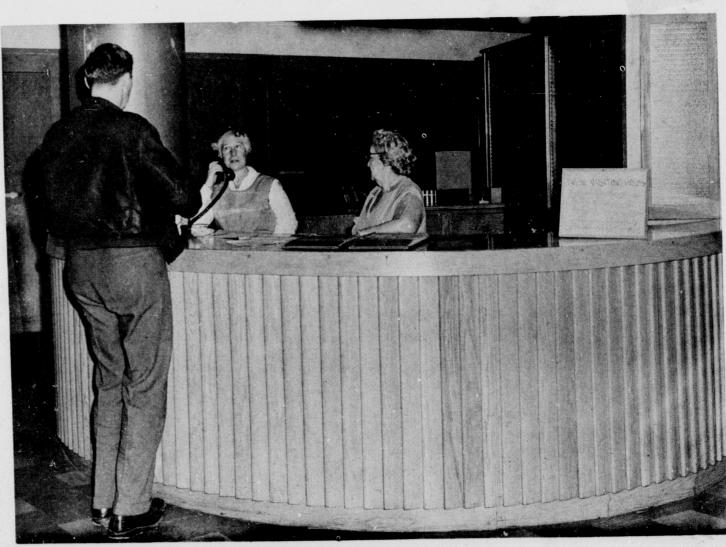

NEW ADMISSIONS OFFICE. Mrs. Edna Swanson admits another patient to the Warren General hospital in the new admissions rooms. The rooms, which were completed just recently, are beautifully furnished and add an air of good will to the in-coming patients.

OBSERVER PRICE INCREASE

As of January 1, 1960 the price of the Observer for those who reside outside of Warren county will be $4.50. The cost of mailing papers to distant zones has steadily increased and there will be another jump on January I. There may be other adjustments in Observer rates to cover all subscribers, but at the present the only ones affected are those residing outside Warren county.

It does not look like war to us in 1960. There is too much talk of peace and efforts to achieve it. Often this is the best time to start one. At least it is a good time to bite off little chunks, such as China is doing. But the big powers are so busily engaged proving their in-It is more than an ordinary New tentions of peaceful existence that they can let whole blocks of people be enslaved without acting.

But we doubt if big steel wants to risk a step leading to Washington supervision. And also . . . the Republicans want prosperity this year. If they don't provide it the Democrats may win and big steel then will toe the line or there will face costly school problems this county provide much elbow room fully domesticated. He may kick in the millage category. Inasmuch as the property owners get it solidly in the pocketbook no matter what tax is passed, this may be the easiest to handle. In Warren there seems to be an effort to put through an earned incometax, which is a fair one, but it would be made unfair if the earnings of the large landlords were exempted. This is the crux of the battle.

Some of the smaller towns are talking per capita tax. But they apparently have not applied the measuring rule to compare increased millage with the head tax. The average property owner would be better off with more millage. But few consider the average citizen in this world of political maneuver-

Warren must add some storm sewers to relieve its sanitary sewer system and also must install more sanitary connections. Part of this will be financed by funds already available. New storm sewers may require a program of several summers.

THE BIG DAM

The big river dam upstream from Warren will become a very real project this year as the relocation of roads and utilities begins and property is purchased. There will be some objections to the prices paid because those who have investments will believe they are due compensation for good will and the value of their businesses. Unfortunately, under Pennsylvania law this does not apply. In fact, if your entire business depended on the existence of the village of Kinzua the court would not allow you a dime.

Meanwhile, we see nothing tangible in the way of plans to prepare for the geographical results of such

There are more Democrats than such as Truman. If it is a Mr. Republican vs. a Mr. Democrat, registration volume can settle it. Pennsylvania will not come up But if a true glamor boy opposes with a major tax base change and a straight party man, the count this means we will have a scramble can be jumbled. You apply the test among those who favor the various to all involved as they develop and you may have the answer.

True prosperity and positive steps toward peace may be the determining factors, and the GOP has the Higher assessments in Warren reins. However, the horse is not the slats out of the dashboard.

We believe that radio stations will give more emphasis to their FM reception. This may be inspired by the crack-down on stations for but there will be signs. Already we failing to maintain their public service percentages, but it also provides more time to sell if FM and AM are separated.

You will see the leasing of machinery that now makes it possible to go into most any business without investing a cent become more prevalent, and it will spread to general products. Many will prefer to lease their cars. For about $75 a month they can have a new car every year, and need only buy the gasoline. Servicing, oil, repairs, and other costs are covered in the monthly payment.

Less expensive appliances will sprinkle the market, such as dishwashers, but the housewife will do more than wash her dishes. She also will be making them. The use of plastic will zoom in the sixties, reaching into the home where it will become common to do it yourself

CIGARETTES

The nicotine and tar battle will reach a definite conclusion in this decade. We say this because we research will be made. Knowing the of kinds of smokes.

Thus far the tobacco industry has not suffered much from the publicity, though it has spent much to provide new gimmicks to convince the public that protection is to be found in length, menthol and filters. This year it is circulating a folder which gives its side of the story, but it is little more than a review of past efforts to fight to bacco and the suggestion that we cannot blame tobacco makers if the public does not practice moderation. It is the closest admission to danger in tobacco that we have seen the industry make.

But the public has not bought any less cigarettes because of the cancer publicity. More cigarettes are sold today than were smoked in 1952. Seven years ago the sale was 394 billion. This past year it was 456 billion. And lung cancer increases rapidly.

The public does reveal that it is conscious of the danger. The regular cigarettes sold at the rate of 318 billion in 1952. This year their sale had dropped to 141 billion. But the filters moved in, jumping from a lowly sale of 5.2 billion in 1952 to 233.6 billion in 1959.

Last year the Camels actually increased their sale despite the filters and publicity. Camel leads the regulars with a sale of 652 billion, up 2.7 per cent over 1958. The Luckies sold 44.5 billion, down 5.7 per cent from 1958.

Winston leads the filters with a sale of 46.3 billion and Pall Mall tops the kings with 63.2 bil-

The public does not want to believe. It looks for an easy out rather than break a habit. It has Salk vaccine available and it doesn't use it while polio actually shows an annual increase.

So, perhaps the comforts will be available, and protection will be provided, but will we buy them?

The long Christmas week end was a busy one for the Warren Fire Department as they answered ten calls from Thursday through Monday. The first call was at 5:14 p. m. on Thursday when the emergency truck was summoned to the intersection of Walnut st. and Pennsylvania ave. to wash gas from the street after an automobile accident.

The initial call on Christmas Day came at 10:10 a. m. from an apartment building at 1620 Pennsylvania ave., E., where a short in a radio, owned by Hugh Laufer, caused some $10 damage. The building is owned by Hilmar Roos.

At 2:52 p. m. the trucks were called to 802 Pennsylvania ave., E., where a fire broke out in a bedroom in the home of Dan Cornish. Fire loss was estimated at $50. The owner of the building is Joe Conti.

On the same day at 10:40 p. m. the trucks were summoned to the Solar Plant 3, on South Irvine st. where the sprinkler line in the old Warren Axe and Tool Co. had burst. The emergency truck responded, but no fire occurred

The following day, Saturday, Dec. 26, the department answered a call at 7:02 a. m. from Loranger Plastics at 36 Clark st. where the sprinkler bell had started to ring. The sprinkler system was shut off, but no fire had broken out.

A call came in at 7:54 a. m. on Saturday as the firemen were summoned to 106 Fourth ave. to the home of Mrs. Kate Winter. A smoke odor had permeated the building and firemen investigated, but found no trace of fire.

At 4:55 p. m. on the same day an alcohol torch caused a small . . . amount of damage at the home of BEFRIENDS HITCH HIKER William Johanson, 3 Tremont st., on the South Side. The emergency truck went to the scene to eliminate further loss.

Sunday evening the trucks were called to 23 Glade ave. where a kid's shack burned to the ground. A house and garage nearby were spared of damage by the firemen. The occupant of the house which is owned by Paul cause of the blaze was undetermined and the shack's value was very little or nothing at all.

Realities Left For Eisenhower Successor

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON. -- No Américan, either in or out of office, has received the vast adulation given Dwight Eisenhower. By comparison the plaudits showered on Woodrow Wilson at the end of World War I were a passing phenomenon marking the brief interlude of American intervention in Europe.

To a people conditioned to isolation and self-sufficiency, Wilson's accolade in Paris, London and Rome was an affront. Who did this man think he was that he could court the favor of the European crowd? National jealousy helped to explain Wilson's tragic downfall and the doone of his concept of a League of Nations.

With Eisenhower both the acclaim and the response are of a different order. Clearly the extraordinary nature of this tribute is as much for the nation as the man. And it is a cause for national pride that millions should pour into the streets in distant cities to cheer an American President.

But what of the man himself? The soldier-hero from Abilene? Is it possible to pass through strange lands welcomed as a triumphant hero-statesman and yet remain a plain American untouched by so much glorification? On the answer to this question a great deal turns for Eisenhower's last year in office, for the nature of the Presidency itself, and perhaps also for the Republican party.

The triumphal tour has come on top of the great initiative the President took in opening conversations with Premier Khrushchev. It has been Eisenhower's year. He has emerged from the shadows of those once close to him who seemed to be making the decisions and directing the show.

Outwardly, for all the transformation that 1959 has wrought, the President appears unchanged. He is the warm-hearted Midwesterner speaking earnest platitudes that carry the weight of his simple convication. One of the remarkable things about the tour just ended was the sameness everywhere of the star of the troupe.

Whether at Karachi or Kabul, Madrid or Morocco he never varied his performance. His response to his environment was so restricted that it made for a certain monotony. The scene varied strikingly from day to day and almost from hour to hour, but the lines were the

In every capital he visited he made an effort to speak to the American Embassy personnel, telling them they were all ambassadors and should get to know the people they were living among. criticisms we have of another people because they are different in their background, their traditions and their prejudices than we are -- ali right let's ignore them and have a good laugh on it and drink a Coca Cola . . . " he said in Paris, adding with a good-natured grin that he should not have put in the "commercial" but should have saida soft drink.

Yet, while he has outwardly changed little during his ANNUS MIRABILIS, those who see him at close range believe that the most powerful elective office in the world has worked its way with him as it has with all occupants of the White House. He sees no one on the political scene in whom he can wholeheartedly believe as his successor. This is one of the commonest symptoms of the Presidential power complex.

With one more year of his second term to run Eisenhower finds himself in a position that could scarcely have been an@icipated a few years ago. After his heart attack and again after the ileitis operation and the stroke his condition was considered precarious and his life expectancy uncertain. He has now come through the most horrendous risks, both to his health and his security with huge crowds almost entirely out of hand, looking as well and as strong as at any time during his occupancy of the White House.

Whether consciously or unconsciously, the thought must have crossed his mind that if on his crusade for peace an assassin's bullet or a sudden seizure had brought him down he would have become one of the great martyr Presidents. In the American pantheon he would have had a place alongside Lincoln as one who gave his life in the cause of humanity.

It is a sobering reflection that if Eisenhower survives two full terms in the White House he will be only the second Republican President to do so. Ulysses S. Grant was the first and last Republican to serve the traditional eight years.

Eisenhower, as the year ends, is on the crest. He has enlisted the imagination of a world living under the shadow of nuclear annihilation. On the eve of a new decade he has made himself the herald of peace. If it proves a false dawn, then the blame is not likely to fall on him but on those who came after him.

ACCIDENTS & CRIME LEFT THEIR MARK ON THE YEAR

IRVINE CROSSING was the scene of this derailment late last March. Thirteen loaded coal cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad's river run between Oil City and Buffalo were spilled, forcing traffic to be detoured for several hours.

FATAL accidents were not uncommon on the county's highways in 1959.

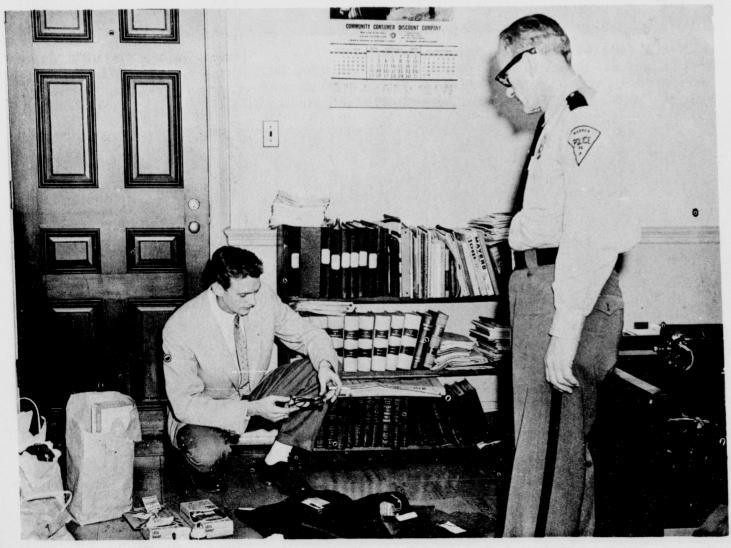

Robert Rowland, 17, and Jack Rivett, 41, were killed instantly last February when a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train struck their pick-up truck at Rouse Home in Youngsville.

TRAGIC was the death of nineyear-old Dorothy Nan Collins. She was fatally injured when she fell through a loose grating on the fire escape at East Street School last September.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, 409 East st., Warren.

ONE OF SEVERAL shoplifting cases in Warren was solved in November when police picked up a Bradford woman who had selected loot from four downtown stores. Chief Mike Evan looks over the items with a store manager.

A WAVE OF HOLD-UPS and burglaries plagued Warren Borough off, however, when he entered Bill and the county earlier this past Yeaney's confectionery and found year.

One masked bandit was chased the owner ready for him.

if a resident sleeping on the third floor hadn't smelled smoke.

Warren was spared any major fires in 1959.

BATTLE FOR FLOOD PROTECTION GAINED MOMENTUM

THOSE FAVORING the construction of the Allegheny River Reservoir, commonly known as the Kinzua Dam, flew to Washington the last of April for the purpose of letting the congressional appropriations committee know that the Warren area wants the dam to protect it from floods and to save our water supply.

Commissioner Blain Mead arranged the trip, which was also encouraged by the Warren County Development Association, The Warren Chamber of Commerce joined in the sponsorship.

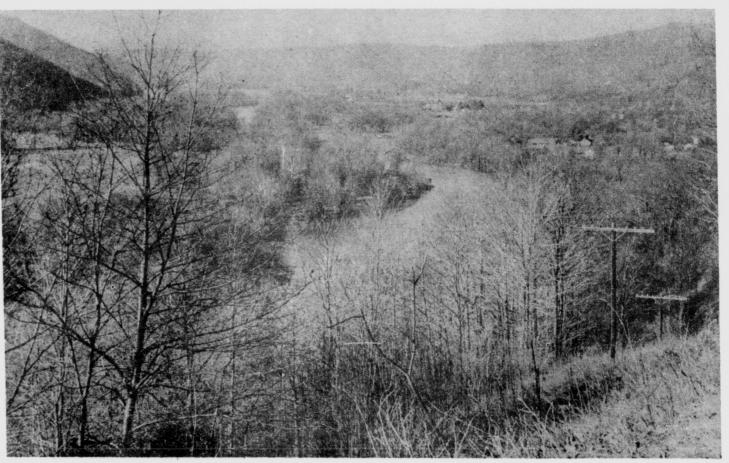

A bomb scare was tied in with the trip when two area women called Bradford Airport and reported a bomb was on the plane. Washington was notified and a check by the FBI on the plane's arrival proved contrary.

Local police and the FBI arrested the two. Both had property in Kinzua which would be inundated with the construction of the dam.

A RESOLUTION urging the Government to expedite the construction session were (l. to r.) Blain Mead, of the Kinzua Dam to protect Warren commissioner; Merle Kremer, County was passed in April at a meeting called by the Warren Area and John Carbon, Council flood com-Chamber of Commerce.

CRUSADER, Dr. Lee Borger was one of the strong crusaders in the battle for fluoridation in Warren. The issue was finally put on referendum. The public said no by a slight majority. Council followed suit.

A NEW SUPER MARKET opened along the three-lane at North Warren.

THE LEVINSON BROTHERS purchased Metzger-Wright Co., the town's largest department store, from Allied Stores.

RAZED. The former residence of Dr. Frantz on Pennsylvania ave., E., was purchased by Dr. Robert Probst and Dr. John Huey and has been razed. They announced plans to construct dental offices.

TWO MUNICIPAL PARKING lots were opened for Warren shoppers this year, one on Market street and the larger at the foot of Liberty (picture).

1959---SPORT AND RECREATION---1959

FARRAH GROTTO held its annual Sportsman's Show at Beaty, motoring, boating and camping among the many show items.

THE HOT STOVE PROGRAM took a step upward, with the formation of a county league in addition to Warren Borough.

This particular team is the Eastern Division All-Stars.

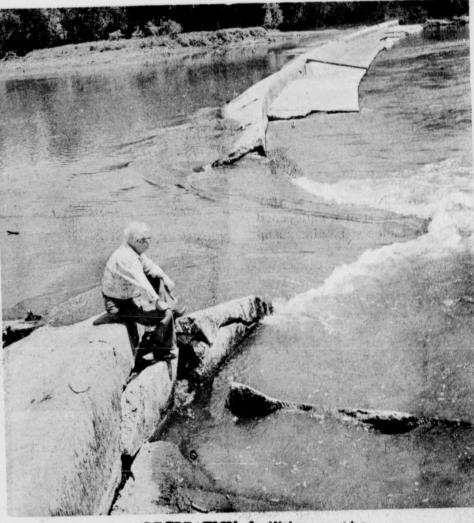

A COUNTY FAIR was again held by the Chief Cornplanter Council of Boy Scouts of America.

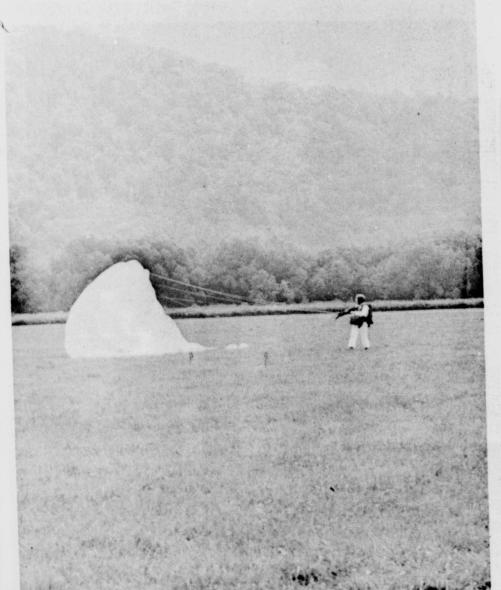

This booth was arranged by the Order of the Arrow and was manned by Jim Huselton of Youngsville. Nicholas Petchel, Sheffield, is at the left.

DISPLAYS and literature for the sportsmen were made available at the Sportsman's Show by FishCommissioner Ken Corey and Game Warden Dave Titus.

warren aviation club members held a fly-in breakfast, air show, and dance this summer. This Stokes' photo shows a visiting parachuter who just landed.

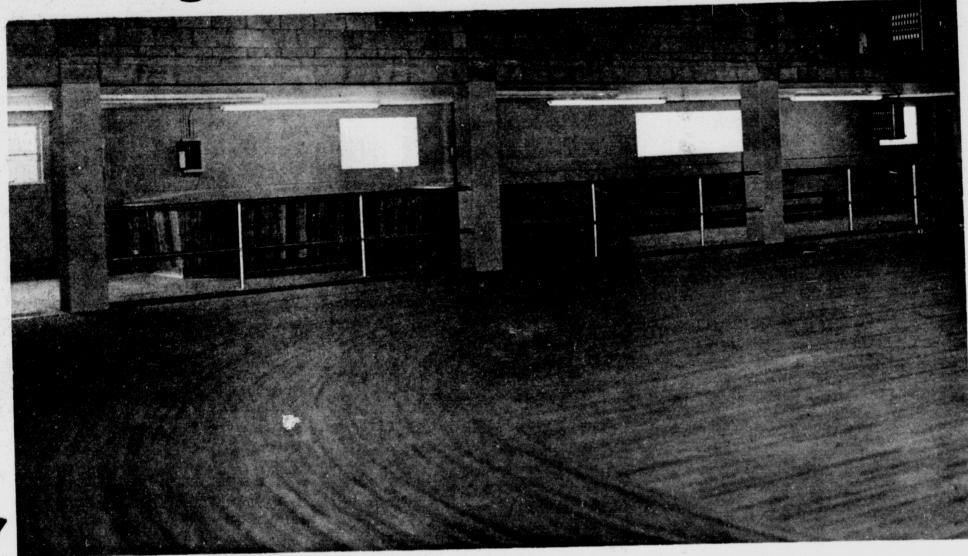

AN ADDED ATTRACTION at this year's Sportsman's Show was a bathing suit show, with models showing styles of the early century and the latest in fashions. The girl is Donna Jones.

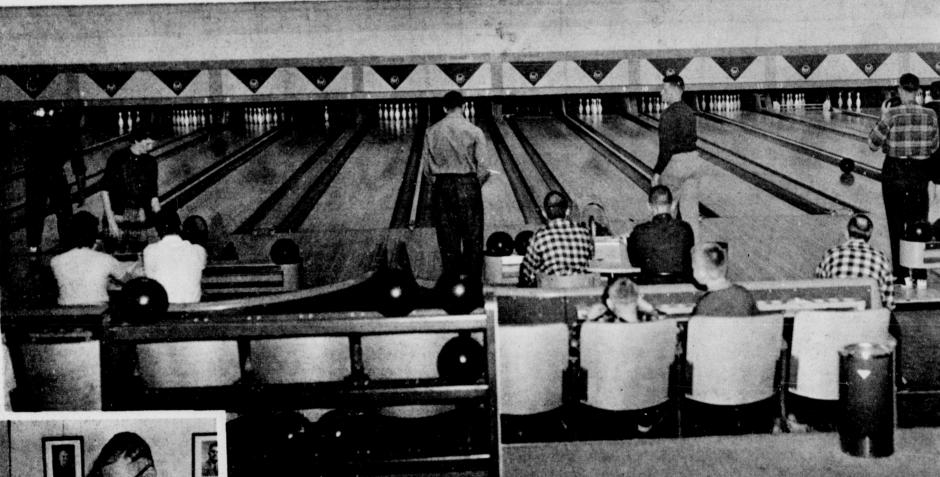

THE STATE made it more interesting this year by stocking thousands of trout in area streams and lakes. Ken Corey is holding up one of the whoppers put in Chapman Dam, but they weren't there for long.

1959 Brought More Recreation To Warren County

A ROLLER RINK for Warren, known as the Warren Roll Arena, was opened in the spring on the West Side of town by Joe Pellegrino.

NEW BOWLING ALLEYS also went up on the West Side and opened last March. Lanes were also put up in Sugar Grove.

A GREAT STEP. Realizing the need of mentally retarded to feel the stimulating experiences of camp life, the Warren County Association for Retarded Children this year leased Camp Cornplanter from the U. S. Government; set up and operated a fine program for the youth of Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Charles Franson (seated), forest supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, signed the permit leasing the camp. Standing are Mrs. Clifford Bollinger, president, WCARC, and forester Arthur C. VanNort.

A TYPICAL SCENE at the WCARC for the young retarded children, under the leadership of Director camp, which offered many outlets A trained staff was maintained Paul Steinkamp.

CHAPMAN DAM State Park went over bigger than ever this year, offering a wide variety of recreation for the public. Two of the men greatly responsible for the program and park are John Rodgers (L), and Forester Charles Merroth.

"ONE MAN'S METER"

Even if you are not much for poetry you may enjoy many chuckling moments with "One Man's Meter" by W. W. Watt, and also a Rinehart book. The author takes the many daily experiences that often annoy or bore us and has poetical fun. You will too.

His subjects range from leaky spigots to the oxygen tent, from advertising commercials to demands on a father, and in titles you will find such intriguing devices as "Baby, It's Hot Inside", "The Cloud, Cirrusly Speaking", and "Kiljoy Was Here".

This is not a book for the poemreader who wants to be confused. It is meaty and earthy. It is not apt to leave you wondering what the writer meant or staring off into space in search of what it means to you.

But if you feel like a few minutes of laughs at yourself and those around you, and at life in general, here is a light answer to moments when you search for relief from neurosis.

Here is a sample; entitled "My Bon Mots Lie Under the Cover':

You come up with those moments of titillating, sympathetic rhyme that can lighten weary days.

MARYSUE LANNING

The engagement of Marysue Lanning to A/2c Albert L. Baker, Jr., has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Rhea Lanning, Warren, and Mr. P. J. Lanning, Toledo, Ohio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Baker, Sr., of Kinzua.

The bride-to-be is a 1955 graduate of Warren high school and at the present is employed in the trust department of the Warren Bank and Trust Co.

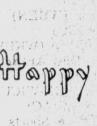

Airman Baker, serving in the U. S. Air Force, is stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base near San Angelo, Texas.

The couple are planning a fall wedding.

THE YEAR OF SCANDAL

It's not been a very creative year, has it? It's been the year of scandal and that has not been a bad thing. But the creativity which follows a cleanup, I devoutly hope, will come later. At least it has not come yet. Television produced no new shows and what's more surprising, no new faces. There were no outstanding live original dramas. It is significant that the best drama of the year, "Moon And Sixpence" combined the talents of two old pros -- Somerset Maugham, who wrote it, and Sir Laurence Olivier who starred in it, both English.

CBS started a workshop for writers and directors which indicated the great paucity of those two commodities. There aren't any young directors around. The woods used to be full of them but most of the better ones have gone on to greater glory in the cinema or the Broadway stage. It's a crying shame that youngsters were not encouraged in the shadow of the talented fellows before they left.

Big Joe

The aftermath of scandal has been the promise of better things, but so far it's been only promise. We were promised, for example, an end of fake laughter on the comedy shows. Instead we got a lot of gibberish. "This has been a recorded program with audience response technically augmented." CBS's programs now all end with some such malarkey as that, all sounding as if they have been written by lawyers.

I didn't mean to disparage the honest intent behind these clumsily. worded announcements. The honesty to follow in their footsteps, to work is a great thing. CBS just needs a new writer. However, I wish Home. they'd follow through and really get rid of the canned laughter; and not just announce that it's canned.

Where are the new faces? Through the year, three of the top faces (all NBC's) Perry Como, Dinah Shore and Steve Allen have all dimmed a little. Como and Allen both lost caste by moving away from the week end. Miss Shore's show is in the same place and it's as good as ever, if not better, but it's familiar. Jack Benny's show has lost some of its sparkle. Phil Silvers and Gleason have disappeared. (Of course, with the rerun business the way it is, no one exactly disappears.)

But of the new faces the one which seems to have the greatest promise of remaining is "Dennis The Menace," a kid's face which seems aimed unabashedly at the kid's trade. This is not a bad show but it calls attention to an alarming trend in television to aim the shows at the very young and the very old. (The advertising industry, I'm convinced, isn't really interested in selling anything. They're interested only in ratings and ratings only mean the set is turned on; not that anyone's paying much attention. The most reckless set turners-on are the very old and very young.)

There were sporadic and not very successful efforts during the year to interest the teen-age set. This started last spring with such confections as "Too Young To Go Steady" and "Peck's Bad Girl," whose titles are self-explanatory and continued with "Many Loves Of Dobie Gillis" which introduced Tuesday Weld to the mass audience from which it may never recover. None of these shows has made show biz history exactly. It's just possible that the teenager, one of the mainstays of radio ("Henry Aldrich" "Corliss Archer" and the rest of it) is not going to leave such footprints on television, conceivably because you have to look at him.

Nineteen fifty-nine is the year Edward R. Murrow decided to take a walk - partly because of deep differences with the very highest brass in CBS, partly because he was just tired and wanted a sabbatical However, the most significant development of the year - and possibly of several years - lay in the public affairs field Largely because of the quiz scandal, sponsors were lining up to pay up the tabs on such public affairs shows as "CBS Reports" (whose "Biography of a Missile" and "Population Explosion" were marvellously serious journalism) and "Journey

CHRISTMAS PARTIES, sponsored jointly by local 993, IAM, representing employes of Sylvania, and Sylvania Electric Products, were held again this year at the Sheffield Children's Home, Hoffman Home in Warren and Rouse Hospital in Youngsville.

The committee distributed gifts to the children, and a stereo record player, individual gifts, etc., were passed out at Rouse Hospital. Bill Brooker gave his usual fine performance as Santa Claus.

On the committee, which hopes to repeat the successful adventure again next year, were Helen Darr, Keith McIntosh, Ollie Anderson, and Archie Brobst.

This is the group at the Sheffield

To Understanding' and "Eyewitness to History."

These programs were put on prime evening time over the full network and attracted respectable audiences and enormous attention to the top is sues of the day. If Van Doren did nothing else, he managed to spring important television from the Sunday afternoon pocket.

WHS NIPS ALUMNI, 55-54

A standing-room-only crowd jammed Beaty gym last evening to witness an excellent display of basketball from the six teams participating. In the big contest the WHS Dragons nipped their taller Alumni rivals, 55-54, as John Barr stole the ball with 30 seconds remaining and layed up the winning two-pointer. Seconds later Jim Redding blocked a Bill Mervine hook to give the current WHS edition the ball. The Massamen came down the floor only to lose the ball on a bad pass but the Alums couldn't find the hoop before time elapsed.

The Dragons enjoyed a first quarter advantage of 14-10 and led at the halfway mark, 29-28. The Alumni staged a comeback in the 16-9, but the last quarter surge by Weather permitting, the opening the Blue and White pulled out the Dragons' fifth consecutive win.

With water comes boating, fishing, swimming, water skiing, and all the pleasures man can devise for fun in the element which is most prolifically provided. Thousands are attracted to areas where such pleasures are best enjoyed and the money rolls in . . . by the millions. That is the word--millions.

Already there are boat enthusiasts joining together in an area club. And the state now has a new organization, called The Pennsylvania Pleasure Boat Association. It is a nonprofit organization staffed by volunteer boatmen from all areas of the state.

Its purposes:

1. To study proposed and existing legislation concerning the regulation and development of boating within the State of Pennsylvania.

2. To make forceful recommenda.

You can see that action is stirring such activites we should be alert to these developments. It is quite possible that boating will be one of our leading forms of pleasure in this coming decade, and we should be included in state plans, informed on the subject of legislation, and represented on boards, committees, commissions, or whatever evolves in and out of such organizations.

ERRONEOUS DEER INFORMATION

"The Game Commission has been advised that incorrect information has been spread concerning a revision of the Pennsylvania Game Law which changed penalties for taking or killing deer out of season. According to reports, it was erroneously stated THE NEW LAW PRO-VIDES NO FINE FOR THE FIRST OFFENSE OF THIS KIND but fixes the penalty as $200 for the second offense and others of the kind thereafter. Following is the correct information:

"On December 16, 1959 Governor Lawrence signed into law a bill passed by the General Assembly which provides a $200 fine for killing a second deer out of season and $200 for each subsequent deer kill in closed season. But - THE LONG STANDING $100 FINE FOR THE FIRST OFFENSE IS RETAINED IN THE LAW.

"Also, prior to the new legislation the Game Law stipulated that the license of a hunter convicted of killing a deer in closed season was automatically revoked for a period of three years. Under the new provision the Game Commission has discretionary power to lift the suspension after one year for good cause."
